

HISTORY

When Fred Waring presented his Miracle Mixer to consumers at the 1937 National Restaurant Show in Chicago, he could not have imagined that one day a Waring[®] blender would play a part in altering history.

Years before antibiotics were in common use, Waring was asked to produce a sealed, stainless steel container for scientific labs – and Waring Laboratory Science was born.

In the early 1950s, Dr. Jonas Salk used a Waring[®] blender with an aseptic dispersal container to develop his lifesaving polio vaccine.

Today, Waring remains one of the most respected names in the clinical laboratory industry, providing researchers with the tools they need to move science forward.

BHL120 / BHL240

The standard in safety. Depend on these Waring[®] blenders to provide optimum safety and reliable performance when working with highly volatile substances.

Features:

- For use with 1 liter, stainless steel container only (HL515)
- Natural finished aluminum and steel housing
- Cord not included. Must be hard-wired via explosion-proof conduit
- External switch available as an accessory (BHLSW)
- UL listed motor for use in Class 1, Group D hazardous locations

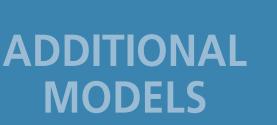

Hazardous Location Blender Motor

Heat is generated within motor housing during normal operation. This blender is designed to prevent the electrical arcing and generated heat from igniting ambient atmospheres.
